

VESNA JANKOVIĆ-MILIĆ, PhD

Full Professor of Mathematics and Statistics in Economics

Work Package Coordinator

She earned her bachelor and PhD titles in Economics at the Faculty of Economics of the University of Niš, and the title of magister of statistical sciences at the Faculty of Economics of the University of Belgrade.

Her scientific and research work is directed towards quantitative analysis in economics, and the key areas of her research include the application of statistical methods and models in the analysis of economic phenomena, business management, labor market research and statistical quality control. In her scientific and research work so far, she has published one university textbook, two collections of assignments, five monographs, one monographic study, and over 150 papers that were presented at international and national scientific conferences and published in proceedings, scientific journals of national, thematic collections or parts of monographs.

She is a member of the Society of Economists in Niš. She is or was engaged in a number of projects financed by the Ministry of Education, Science and Technological Development of the Republic of Serbia and local self-government, as well as international projects (TEMPUS, Erasmus+, Horizon Europe).